

Executive Summary

Promising Practices for Successful Job Corps Scholars Program

Implementation

10/14/21

Moderator(s): Michelle Mills

Speaker(s): Jan Bray, Cynthia Hull, Jane Peters, Lance Wise, Tom Brown

This webinar will provide an overview of promising practices and strategies for successful Job Corps Scholars program implementation.

The webinar will introduce Job Corps Scholars grantees to best and promising practices that will ensure the successful implementation of their program. Examples and information provided will be directly relevant and responsive to the purpose and goals of the Job Corps Scholars program and the unique needs of the community colleges and their partners. Key areas to be covered include:

- Participant Outreach and Recruitment
- Partner and Employer Engagement
- Program Design, including Communication Strategies
- Eligibility Processes
- Data Collection and Reporting
- Sustainability

Cynthia Hull and Jane Peters of Blue Ridge CTC, Lance Wise of Atlanta Technical College, and Tom Brown of Clackamas Community College shared their strategies and experience in implementing their Job Corps Scholars programs. Jan Bray of the National Association of Workforce Boards facilitated the discussion.

Run of Show

Objectives	2:07
Promising Practice Areas	2:36
Participant Outreach & Recruitment - NAWB	8:27
Program Design - Atlanta Technical College	16.13
Partner & Employer Engagement - Blue Ridge Community College	24:53
Job Corps Eligibility Process - Clackamas Community College	31.28
Data Collection & Reporting - Clackamas Community College	37.06
Sustainability - Atlanta Technical College	39:16
Poll Question 1 – What practice areas have been most successful for you?	46.51
Poll Question 2 – What practices are the most challenging as you implement the Job Corps Scholars program?	48.00
Virtual Roundtable	49.20